

Hartford Man Could Only Eat Carefully

Mr. N. Bayes of 64 New Park Avenue, Hartford, Tells Public How He Was Able to Resume Work After Six Months of Illness. CINOT Did It.

If the reader was unable to work through illness for six months and for the past year or two was only able to eat certain things and had rheumatism in the limbs for over two years and CINOT... The past two years I have suffered with constipation, rheumatism and indigestion during the past six months, I have been unable to work. I started in taking CINOT and after the second bottle was able to eat pretty nearly all foods and now seems I cannot get enough to eat and I suffer no distress, my constipation has left me and my rheumatism is no more and all of this has been accomplished with less than six bottles of CINOT, which cost me only a trifle, and I would advise anyone who is sick to give this wonderful remedy a trial.

CINOT is being demonstrated in Norwich by an expert at the H. M. Lewis Drug Store, 286 State St., 1919. The case of Thomas Connors of New London against Harry Zavarits of Groton which was assigned for trial before Charles R. Waller and a jury in the court of common pleas at Groton Tuesday was settled. The case was to recover commission for services.

Conway, who is an architect, claims that he drew plans for a two room hotel for the defendant and charged $250 which the defendant claimed was exorbitant and refused to pay. The case was settled by the defendant paying $200. The jury was discharged and adjourned to come in in New London Saturday.

TAKE TWO IN RAID AT HOUSE AT OSWEGATCHIE

Joseph Neville and Viola Burr, alias Alice Harrington, who have been living at a place at Oswegatchie, town of Waterford, are to appear before the next session of the criminal superior court for this county, the man on the charge of obtaining money from a woman earned by prostitution and the woman on the charge of keeping a disorderly house. The man is held under bonds of $3,000 for appearance in court and the woman is out on her own recognizance.

The arrests followed an investigation conducted by Lieutenant Hamlin of the United States army, who is operating in New London in connection with the disease survey of this section. Lieutenant Hamlin and County Investigator William E. Jackson went out to the house Sunday and took the Burr woman and Ruth Green, a companion, into custody. The women were lodged in the New London police station for safe keeping and the police released them on bonds of $250 each for appearance in police court on Monday morning. On presentation before Judge Colt at that time they were released.

Monday morning State Attorney Hadlai A. Hull instructed Deputy Sheriff J. H. Tubbs to locate the women and he with Lieutenant Hamlin and County Investigator Jackson, went out to the house and while they were there the Burr woman appeared after having just been released from the police court and she was arrested and presented before Justice of the Peace Oscar Dimock who released her on her own recognizance.

The officers then returned to the house in search of Neville whom they had been unable to locate. On their return they found that furniture in the house had been disturbed and they immediately started a search of the place. After some time they found a small compartment in the attic of the house accessible through a trap door in the ceiling and they soon learned that some one was concealed there. It was only after threatening to shoot through the ceiling that Neville appeared and he was placed under arrest and presented before Justice of the Peace Dimock, who held him under bonds of $3,000. The officers through a trap door in the ceiling and they soon learned that some one was concealed there. It was only after threatening to shoot through the ceiling that Neville appeared and he was placed under arrest and presented before Justice of the Peace Dimock, who held him under bonds of $3,000.

The Green woman disappeared after being discharged from the police court and she has not been located as yet. The house, which is the old Weaver home at Station 23, north of Oswegatchie, was occupied by the woman and her husband, who were members of the Y. W. C. A. of New London, and complaint had been made concerning the actions of men who frequented the house, claiming that they were engaged in political activities. This led to a complaint, supplementing the complaint of the U. S. army officer.

The frequenters of the house, which has been open during the past eight or ten months, were foreigners and there has been complaints by some that they were engaged in political activities. The neighbors claim to have seen young men enter the home and a few hours later leave showing the results of using liquor. No liquor was found, however, on the premises by the officers making the raid. On Friday several young women, said to be from New York, came to the house, but they were evidently tipped off, for they were not found there at the time of the raid. At one time between eight and 10 young women were seen leaving or entering the house, and many times six or seven were frequenters.

When Neville was found in the attic cupboard, he was armed to the teeth, but he showed no signs of fight, however, when arrested. GRADUATES WITH HONORS AT JERSEY GRAMMAR SCHOOL. Charles R.
